MEMORANDUM FOR: Intelligence Community Staff

ATTENTION: Program and Budget Staff

SUBJECT: Exceptional Intelligence Analyst Program
Recommendation - [REDACTED]

FROM: [REDACTED]
Director, Foreign Broadcast Information Service

1. I recommend [REDACTED] for the Exceptional Intelligence Analyst Program. During her career with FBIS, [REDACTED] has been an outstanding analyst of China and of Asian affairs in general and has in recent years expanded her horizons with supervisory assignments in charge of Soviet, Middle East, and East European analysis. In all of her assignments, from desk analyst to division chief, she has demonstrated keen analytical instincts as well as the ability to inspire others to major achievements in media analysis.

2. Throughout [REDACTED] career as an analyst, she has evinced high interest and made major contributions in media analysis tools and techniques. While still a journeyman analyst in 1967, she devised a thematic coding system for communist Vietnamese media themes, a system which was of major importance in tracking Vietnamese propaganda shifts throughout the war and down to the present day. In 1979, [REDACTED] played the major role in developing applications of traditional FBIS media analysis methodologies used for communist media to Middle East media, resulting in the creation of a new regional program in the FBIS Analysis Group. [REDACTED] has also contributed greatly to FBIS efforts exploring the use of television as an analytic tool. Most recently, she has drawn on her previous experience with thematic coding to devise a coding system for East European media.

3. In the breadth of her area knowledge and in her experience and interest in analytical methodology, [REDACTED] is uniquely qualified to examine the effect of new means of communications and new technologies on media analysis. I expect that her work will be of great value in
